IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF

COLLIN COUNTY, TEXAS

219th JUDICIAL DISTRICT

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

The Motion for Order to Show Cause Whether Defendant Brent Hanson Should Be Punished for His Civil and Criminal Constructive Contempt of Court, having been considered;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Brent Hanson appear before this Court on June 27, 2005, at 9:00 o'clock, a.m., to show cause and determine whether he should not be held in contempt for past and continued disobedience of this Court's Agreed Judgment and Permanent Injunction of February 2, 2005, and Amended Agreed Judgment and Permanent Injunction of March 5, 2005, in each of the following respects:

1. Mr. Hanson's operation and postings to the LasikQuack.com and LasikQuack.org websites repeated verbatim and in substance both text and images that mentioned, referred to, discussed, commented upon, and defamed Plaintiffs.
2. Mr. Hanson's operation of and postings to the LasikQuack.com and LasikQuack.org websites made comments, statements, assertions, claims, and allegations on the Internet regarding or referring to Plaintiffs, and his agents and attorneys.
3. Mr. Hanson's posting to LasikQuack.com and LasikQuack.org websites demonstrated he had not deleted and did not delete all files, postings, messages, sites, search results, search indices, and e-mails containing any reference to Dr. William Boothe.

IT IS HEREBY FURTHER ORDERED that Mr. Hanson is advised that he has the right to retain an attorney to provide advice regarding this matter and the potential consequences of this Order to Show Cause, include without limitation, incarceration and monetary fine. Mr. Hanson also has the right to have an attorney present before any questioning. If Mr. Hanson cannot afford to retain an attorney, the Court may appoint one for him consistent with its procedures. Mr. Hanson has the right to remain silent, but anything he says can be used against him in Court.

Signed this 9 day of May 2005.
